

★ HELLO FROM KINDERCARE!

January has flown by! We appreciated the relatively warm weather that allowed us to have some fun outside most days. We enjoyed getting to play in all of the wonderful forts around the school!

Inside the Kindercare room, we spent the month doing science activities. We made shadow puppets and experimented with how the light placement changed the shadows. Using different items from around the room we built bridges and structures to see how much weight they could hold, and we practised making predictions by guessing how much water would be in a jar after the snow inside melted.

This month we had a magician come to do a show for us. His tricks were amazing! He ate some of the teachers rings but lucky for us he found them safely wrapped in his wallet! Unlucky for him the fire in his wallet burned his money!

Moving into February, we are hoping the weather will stay nice enough for us to continue playing outside. We want to thank you for always remembering to send your children with warm clothes.
